Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Damon Observed Their Golden Wedding.

An interesting event transpired the occasion of their 50th wedding day. anniversary. About 35 relatives and sat down to a bountiful dinner. In the afternoon a large number of friends and neighbors in this vicinity responded to the invitations received. Notwithstanding the urgent request of Mr. and Mrs. Damon that no presents were desired their friends could not deny themselves the pleasure of showing their esteem in a more substantial way than simply by their presence, so a purse of gold at 6 o'clock. was made up by the people of this village and sums of money were also given by others, and sent by distant After refreshments, consisting of cake and coffee, had been served, Rev. Grant Van Blarcom of Concord read letters from absent friends, one being from Mrs. Polly Chapman, a near neighbor, but who, on account of her age, 95 years, was unable to be present. He also presented the gifts. He spoke of the Mass. frequency of golden weddings in this vicinity in the past few years as due to the health giving virtue of our vigorous Vermont climate, which has tended to prolong the lives of so our Green Mountain state. Also it and Troy, going by automobile. is due to the wise choice of a lifelong companion, which was made in those early days which has led to a happy contented life, keeping the wedded pair together in health until life's span of years has reached far out towards the setting sun. 75 of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Ranney gathered at their home to help them observe the 50th anniversary of their wedding in a fitting manner. The affair had been so well planned by their son and his wife that not a word had reached the ears of the interested parties, so while Mrs. Ranney was busy with her household duties she was interrupted by the coming of friends. Mr. Ranney was attending to his road work at some distance from home but was summoned and after what seemed a long time to his waiting friends arrived and was warmly greeted. A bountiful dinner was served, many pleasant memories were revived and a social time enjoyed, after which the house was called to order while the two little granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ranney sang very prettily "The Golden Wedding Day." Rev. I. P. Chase next read letters from absent friends who wished to be there but were unable to come. Mr. Chase spoke of the joys and sorrows that had come into the lives in this home, dwelling most on the bright side. In a most pleasing manner at the close of his remarks, in behalf of their friends, he presented the happy couple $50 in gold. Mr. Ranney responded with thanks and words of appreciation. Scotto C. Ranney, the oldest son of born in Kirby February 19, 1837. He was only nine years of age when he lost his arm while playing around a threshing machine. It was a terrible thing for a boy but he was ambitious and willing to work and as he grew to manhood few men could do more work or accomplish more than he with his one arm. He was educated in the common schools and the most of his life has been spent in farming in Kirby and later in Lyndon. Last spring he sold his farm and purchased a home in East Lyndon. He is now the road commissioner in Lyndon. October 10, 1860, he married Philena E. True of Coventry, who has always been a ready and willing helper and home maker and to them were born four children, Pliny O., who resides in Kirby on the home farm; Lizzie S., who died February 2, 1885; George E., who died December 28, 1892, and Eugene S., who recently died. Village Improvement Association to Hold Annual Meeting Saturday.

The officers of the Village Improvement association of Danville wish to call the attention of the members to the annual meeting to be held Saturday, October 22, at the library at 8 o'clock, hoping there may be a larger attendance than usual. The question of lighting the village is still unsettled. The lamps the association bought and supported during the winter at the expense of some $65, have not proved satisfactory and the village has been in darkness this summer. It was felt by the association that the whole village ought to share in the cost of supplying light and suggested that the fire district take up the matter at its annual meeting but this was not done. It now rests with the village to take action as the association has done all in its power. Col. William M. Dole passed away

A Safe Savings Bank

There is every reason to believe that the Savings Banks of Vermont are all safe, sound, and strong. That the public so believe is evidenced by the recent report of the Inspector of Banks showing almost unprecedented gains in deposits during the past year. If the confidence in the safety of Vermont Savings Banks, however, is to be measured by the growth of deposits, then unquestionably the Hyde Park Savings Bank holds the first place, for its percentage of increase in deposits during the three fiscal years ending July 1. 1910, barring perhaps some recently established banks upon which of course a percentage basis of increase could not be computed, is more than that of any other bank in the state.

by all, the deposits in the Hyde Park Savings Bank during the last three years have exceeded the withdrawals by more than $1,000 for each business day during the entire three years. We know of no parallel anywhere, except in some of the large City Banks. The Hyde Park Bank pays 4 per cent.

Stated in terms that can be understood interest, compounded semi-annually, and leposits made before November 16th will draw interest from October 1st. It pays the taxes on all deposits up to $2,000 and the Lamoille County National Bank of Hyde Park, under the same management, will accept, upon the same terms, any sums in excess of this $2000.

As evidencing the safety of making deposits by mail, it may be stated that in the more than twenty-one years of its existence, not a dollar of remittances to the Hyde Park Savings Bank, by mail has ever been lost. It is entirely safe to make deposits either by personal check, bank draft, postal money order, express order, or cash in registered letter. This Bank respectfully solicits your deosits. If any further information is deired send your post office address on a postal to either Carroll S. Page, President, or F. M. Culver, Treasurer, Hyde Park, Vermont, and a prompt reply will be forthcoming.-News and Citizen.

Card of Thanks. Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our deep appreciation and heartfelt thanks to the Woman's Relief Corps, friends and neighbors, for the kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral tributes which aided us so much to bear this great affliction,—the death of our soldier-husband and father. We are especially grateful to the members of Chamberlin Post, G. A. R. for all their loving service and attention, and the fitting and impressive ceremonies at the burial of their devoted comrade.

Card of Thanks. In appreciation of the thoughtful attention shown by friends to our husband and brother during his last illness, we extend sincere thanks. Also to the fraternal societies, Passumpsic Lodge, F. & A. M., Palestine Com-mandery, Mystic Star Chapter, O. B. S., and D. of R., for the beautiful flowers, silent messengers of love and respect for the gone be-fore and sympathy for the living.

MRS. SARAH M. GOODWIN.

PORK IS COMING DOWN in prices. It has been "on the heg" long enough, and to "save its bacon" must drop in price. Ours will do so, but it won't EVER DROP IN QUALITY any more than our Beef, Mutton, Lamb, Veal and Poultry. And yet you may be always sure of the lowest market prices here.
